Badger Candidates Will Base Fight on Principles of La Follette

ARE FOR CONSERVATION

Denounce Warfare in Nicaragua and Urge Government Control of Power Plants

Madison, (AP)—The platform upon which Wisconsin Progressive candidates for seats in the Republican national convention in Kansas City base their fight for election in April is "predicted on the achievements and principles" of the late Robert M. La Follette. Many of its planks are familiar to the public from former campaigns. It endorses Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, as candidate for president of the United States, as "acknowledged champion of the rights and interests of the American people."

It denounces "illegal warfare" in Nicaragua, and protection of American interests abroad by armed force, opposes the seating of Senators-elect Smith and Vane, and has a "wet" plank. The definition of governmental policies for which the delegates will fight was formulated at their conference here Saturday.

DENOUNCE MONOPOLIES
Monopolies of utilities are denounced, and the Progressives urge government super-power plants at Muskego Shoals, Boulder Dam and other strategic points. National conservation measures are asked. Treaties for outlawry of war are favored, and the administration's $3,000,000 naval building program is denounced.

Amendment to the McNary-Haugen bill specifically mentioned, is demanded, with indorsement of cooperative and a demand that the Federal farm loan system be administered to the interests of the farmers. Injunctions in labor troubles are called "repugnant."

"Purchase of United States Senate seats" brought a plank for an "effective Federal corrupt practices act, approval of the Senate's refusal to seat Frank L. Smith of Illinois, opposition to the seat in the Senate of William S. Vare, and "recollection" of "the outright purchase of delegates to the 1920 national Republican convention."

LATE LA FOLLETTE
The late Senator La Follette's "courage and persistence in exposing the looting of Teapot Dome and Elks Hills naval oil reserves has brought about their return to the people," another plank says, pledging the delegate candidates support for a candidate for president whose cabinet will "not conspire to corrupt and defraud the government."

Flood control, the federal inheritance tax, the Norris amendment obviating "lame-duck" sessions of Congress, and the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway came next in the endorsements.

Under endorsement of the initiative and referendum, the platform advocates amendment of the Volstead act in accord with the terms of the 1926 referendum in Wisconsin.

Amendment of the Federal Reserve Act to insure that credit of the Reserve system "shall be used for benefit of American farmers" closes the platform.

Monopoly, predatory pronouncements to the platform charge, "has its representatives in the halls of Congress, on the federal bench, and in the executive departments. The service agents barter away the nation's natural resources, nullify acts of Congress by administrative favor, invade the people's rights by unlawful arrests and unconstitutional searches and seizures, direct our foreign policy in the interests of predatory wealth, and make wars and conscript the sons of the common people to fight them."

The introductory statement, holds that although measures "in the public interest" advocated in Wisconsin Progressive platforms for twenty years have been "rejected by representatives of special privileges," they have been indorsed by the people, fought out in Congress, and with few exceptions, enacted into law.

Senator Norris is called "able, fearless, and incorruptible—beloved by friend and respected by foe—veteran of a thousand battles for freedom, justice, and clean government," and one who has "kept faith with the common people—the progressive unprivileged masses of America."

The endorsement plank details the accomplishments of the Senator, who "recall with gratitude and pride stood side by side with Senator La Follette," mentioning specifically his authorship of the constitutional amendment to end "lame-duck" congressional sessions, which amendment is made part of the platform.

Nervous Strain Beginning To Show On Col. Lindbergh

Cristobal, Canal Zone.—(AP)—The eagerness of Latin-America to do honor to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has brought him to a point where he is very nervous, Colonel Arthur Fisher, commandant of France field, believes.

"The Lone Eagle" may crack under the strain," Colonel Fisher said. The statement regarding Lindbergh's nervous condition was made after he had returned with every outward evidence of good health from a week of recreation in the tropical mountains of Panama. He went there after completing some 4,000 miles of his good will trip and a continuous round of social functions in seven Central American capitals.

Although the Spirit of St. Louis was ready to carry him to South America, it was announced that Lindbergh would take several days more of rest before setting out for Cartagena and Barranquilla, Colombia, Friday.

The good will flyer is understood to have expressed a wish that some one double for him in the social engagements his flights call for. He is willing to do the flying and, according to Colonel Fisher, is only nervous when on the ground and not when in the air.

It was on the vacation trip, the first extended one of the Lone Eagle has had since leaving Washington on Dec. 17, that Lindbergh's nervous condition became apparent to his companions, Colonel Fisher declared. Lindbergh was unable to sit still, read or rest, it was stated.

NO SIGN OF "STRAIN"
France Field, Cristobal Canal Zone.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his famous Spirit of St. Louis Monday gave a convincing demonstration that they are both fit.

The Colonel said so himself after giving his plane a test Monday morning during which he did many stunts, much to the delight of a crowd which had gathered at the field eager to see the famous flyer of "We" back in action in the air.

The American flyer, who will soon resume his trip to Havana for the Pan-American conference, took the air at 9:05 o'clock Monday morning. Just before landing, he performed a series of trick evolutions, holding the ship almost motionless in the air and gliding but did no "barrel rolls" or "falling leaves."

On Wednesday, Colonel Lindbergh has been asked to place a wreath on the statue of Columbus overlooking Limon bay. It is expected that he will drop the wreath from the air, as it is known that he does not wish any more parades.

DYNAMITE CHANNEL THROUGH ICE GORGE

Many Homes Abandoned and People Threatened by Flood at Monroe, Michigan

Monroe, Mich.—(AP)—With a channel blasted through the ice gorge at the Windsor-st. bridge, flood waters of the Raisin river had receded 18 inches Monday morning and additional charges of dynamite were being prepared to widen the channel. Barring a thaw, immediate danger from the flood waters was believed to have been checked.

An ice gorge formed at a bridge over the Raisin river in the residential section here had thrown the stream out of its channel Monday, creating a serious flood menace. Residences for more than a mile along both sides of the river were partially flooded. Many homes had to be abandoned.

Ice floes, loosened in the upper reaches of the river and drifting southward, jammed at the bridge and formed a blockade that increased in size throughout the night.

J. A. KIMBERLY, PIONEER PAPER MAKER, IS DEAD

Founder of Kimberly-Clark Co. at Neenah Dies in California

Neenah.—(AP)—John Alfred Kimberly, 80, president of the board of directors of the Kimberly-Clark Company, president of the Neenah Paper Company and chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank of Neenah, pioneer industrialist here, died Saturday morning at his estate in Redlands, Calif., following a protracted period of steadily declining health.

Mr. Kimberly's name is closely associated with the early industrial history of the Fox River valley. News of his illness was sent here some days ago, but subsequent reports were to the effect that his condition had shown a slight improvement.

Mr. Kimberly was the son of John Robbins Kimberly, a general merchant and manufacturer in Troy, N. Y., who was prominent in political circles there prior to his removal to the west. Mr. Kimberly's mother was Aurelia Aldrich of Wrentham, Mass. He was one of four children, one of whom survived him—a sister, Mary Kimberly Hamilton, formerly of Neenah, now of Redlands, Calif., who is in her ninety-seventh year.

BORN IN TROY
He was born in Troy, N. Y., on July 18, 1838, and in 1847 came west with his parents, who settled in Neenah. Having received his primary education in Troy and Neenah, he entered Lawrence college, Appleton, where he gained an education fitting him for a business career, which he entered in 1857. His first business venture was in company with Havelock Babcock, in general merchandising, which was followed in 1862 by the purchase of the Neenah paper mill, which he became interested in a saw mill and in the lumber trade, which he continued for 25 years.

In 1872 was formed the co-partnership of Kimberly, Clark and Company, for the manufacture of paper at which time they built their first paper mill. The corporation was subsequently changed to Kimberly-Clark Company. This company has now been in existence for fifty-six years.

STARTED SMALL
It began in a small way, the daily output of its one mill not exceeding two tons of rag news print paper. Today it is one of the principal factors in the paper industry in the United States and has extended its

The house was badly damaged by the fire.

G. O. P. TO LOSE BY REJECTION OF SEN. SMITH

Narrow Margin in Senate Further Reduced by Refusing Seat to Illinoisan

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1928, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—The United States senate is content to go on functioning with only one senator from Illinois.

Governor Small's statement that the state of Illinois had been given an unwarranted affront by the refusal to seat Senator-elect Frank L. Smith caused senators to point to the language of the resolution adopted and suggested that Illinois had affronted the senate by presenting credentials "tainted with fraud and corruption."

Talk of legal proceedings is not taken seriously on Capitol Hill, for in the last analysis the supreme court of the United States would be asked to set aside a vote of 61 to 23 as to who shall sit in a legislative body whose rules are made by itself. And an opinion against the senate not only would not be expected but it is a question as to who could enforce such a decision.

HAD LARGE MAJORITY
The theory which the majority of the senate holds is that a senator is not merely the representative of his constituents, but a legislator which is a man to that senate simply to vote on matters pertaining to Illinois, but on legislation affecting the entire nation, and that the senate itself must be the judge of whether it will permit anyone to vote whose credentials are in the original instance said to be tainted with corruption and fraud.

The 61 to 23 vote was a surprise in the senate that was not expected to be so large. This, together with the senators present but paired one against the other, shows that more than two thirds was available. And even if Mr. Smith had been formally given the oath of office there was a two-thirds vote to expel him under the rules.

The senate, of course, can go ahead with only 55 senators. Every now and then the senate has a vacancy which is not immediately filled. The republicans are the ones who suffer in the instance because if Governor Small refuses to recognize the existence of a vacancy then the republican strength in the senate will continue to be minus one vote and that is very important nowadays when the republicans have such a scant margin for party matters.

MEANS MORE DELAY
Pennsylvania's case is coming next and it looks now as if Senator-elect Vare will also be excluded. The assumption here is that Mr. Vare will resign and run again in another election in which case, if elected, it is believed he would be seated as the objection of the senate is to his winning the office by the expenditure of money.

Mr. Vare was to be the champion of the "one man" voters with his campaign promises normal, the objection to his election would be removed. The republicans are the ones who suffer in the instance because if Governor Small refuses to recognize the existence of a vacancy then the republican strength in the senate will continue to be minus one vote and that is very important nowadays when the republicans have such a scant margin for party matters.

KILLS 3 NICARAGUANS
Managua, Nicaragua.—(AP)—Three Nicaraguans were killed Monday in a fierce fight near Granada with an American sailor and a marine who had attempted to come to the rescue of a fourth Nicaraguan being hacked to death by marauders.

L. F. Newton, United States navy, killed the three Nicaraguans after his companion, Harold L. Crowell, first sergeant, United States Marine corps, had been killed and severely cut with machetes.

The men said they were hawking riding near Granada when they suddenly came upon three men, attacking a fourth with machetes. They dismounted with the intent of disarming the attackers and the three Nicaraguans, who by this time had killed the fourth, shot at them.

Crowell, who was shot in the leg, was pulled to the trigger but the cartridges failed to explode. The men attacked him, cutting him on the fingers and hands. Meanwhile, Newton killed two of the men who were attempting to decapitate Crowell. Newton attempted to shoot the third man, who was standing over Crowell, who had fallen. When his third shot failed to explode, Newton seized a machine, which had been carried by the fourth Nicaraguan, and killed the third man. Crowell was expected to recover.

SENATE TRUCE ENDED
Washington.—(AP)—Senate leaders of both parties have declared open season again on the administration's Nicaraguan policy, as a truce under which the senate refrained from any action in the Senate to curtail the executive branch's policy.

Aside from a statement that many came early in the week, the first definite sign is expected to be taken on Wednesday when the foreign relations committee will examine the crop of resolutions to be touching on the Nicaraguan situation.

Just now the senate will get into the action, however, as the debate on the Nicaraguan situation is expected to be taken on Wednesday when the foreign relations committee will examine the crop of resolutions to be touching on the Nicaraguan situation.

WHEEDEN WHEN PASSENGER TRAIN HITS CAR ON TRACKS

William Kearn Family Taken to Hospital After Their Car Skids into Accident

Mr. and Mrs. William Kearn and their four small children, W. Brewster, were injured about 12:05 Sunday afternoon when their automobile was struck by a south bound passenger train at the Chicago Northwestern railroad grade crossing on highway 125, about a mile west of the city limits.

William Kearn, 33, was the most severely injured. He suffered a fractured left hip, severe cuts and bruises and his condition was at first considered critical but attending physicians Monday morning said he was greatly improved. Mrs. Kearn, 29, was severely bruised and cut. Three of the children, Mildred, 8, Kenneth, 4, and Bernice, 2, were cut and shocked and Dorothy, 6, had a severe bruise on her left leg.

The Kearn family, in a small sedan with a fast motor, was traveling west. Mr. Kearn evidently saw the train approaching as he tried to stop the car which skidded and finally stopped on the car tracks. The train was driven by Engineer Carkins and Conductor Ruch was in charge. The car was almost totally demolished.

The victims were picked up by members of the train crew and the train backed to Appleton Junction from where they were taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

CATHOLICS OPEN DRIVE FOR NEAR EAST RELIEF

The formal opening of the Catholic Near East Welfare association's membership roll call took place Sunday in form of an appeal for the support of the near east relief drive in the Near East. All parishes in the Green Bay diocese are for the first time taking part in the work.

An apostolic benediction from Pope Pius, transmitted through the association to Catholic clergy and laity throughout the United States, was read by parish priests in connection with the services Sunday. It is hoped that the work of the association, begun a year ago when it was formed through the consolidation of all American Catholic philanthropic and engaged in charitable enterprises in the Near East and Europe may be continued on a broader scale this year.

Its main objective is the support of institutions already established under its auspices, including orphanages, trade and agricultural schools, refugees children in Syria, Palestine, and Greece. During the first year of its activities the association has been able to extend some relief to the many thousands of refugee families scattered over Near Eastern countries and placed the children of Russian refugee youths in Europe on a permanent basis. Giving help to the refugees of Russian in the educational and useful careers was begun by the late Cardinal Mercier.

The names of members will be inscribed on the Roll call, the results of which will be cabled to Pope Pius on Feb. 12.

STREET EMPLOYEES GET READY FOR SPRING WORK

Employees of the city street department have started their annual task of overhauling city machinery and putting it in condition for work in the spring. Although the force has been reduced to a minimum, the men now employed are "all year" employees and the overhauling work is a part of their job.

New street barriers, used in paving work and when streets are torn up for repairs, are being made and an inventory of city equipment prepared.

Since the sleet storm of the first of the week, street crossings have been sanded and in many cases sidewalks made safe for pedestrians.

City statling rinks have been flushed and flooded and are now ready for skaters, Robert Hackworthy, street commissioner, announced.

ASHLAND TRAIN TIME CHANGED BY WHOLE HOUR

Train number 53, northbound on the Ashland division which formerly arrived at the "flats" at 5:57 P. M. will arrive at 6:52 one hour later. The train is due at Appleton Junction at 7:10 and leaves at 7:25 after waiting for train number 205, northbound on the Northern Wisconsin division. The Ashland train will lay over at the junction for supper. The train formerly made connection with train 209 arriving at the junction shortly before 6 o'clock.

POLICE CLOSE "INN" IN OLD CHICKEN COOP

Charge Proprietor Sold Drinks and Permitted Dancing Without License

Police Saturday night raided a dance hall on S. Kernan-ave dubbed the "Chicken Coop Inn" and closed the place when it was found that drinks were being held and soft drinks sold without a permit. Chief George T. Deltgen and Hendricks made the raid.

According to police the dance hall proprietor was formerly a barn and later a chicken coop. The proprietor, Joseph Schimms, apparently sought to capitalize on the property and started a dance hall and soft drink parlor. Several young girls were found to be among those persons frequenting the place, according to police.

Schimms was arraigned in municipal court Monday morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of selling soft drinks without a license. Judge Theodore Berg imposed a fine of $25 and costs which was paid.

We hope it's alright but you never can tell because 284 people died right here in Appleton last year.

Students Told Learning Much Easier Now Than It Will Be Years Later

The modern saleslady or salesman knows his merchandise but the old fashioned clerk does not, C. Partridge, successor to H. Post at Pettibone-Peabody company, told members of the first semester salesmanship class of Appleton high school Friday afternoon.

The study of salesmanship develops personality, confidence, initiative, and respect, according to Mr. Partridge. He urged the students to make the most of their time at the present while they can get worthwhile experiences and information in their high school work with less time and effort expended than several years hence will require.

Mr. Partridge will speak to the second semester class during the last week in February, before the students will be ready to begin cooperative sales work with the stores of the city.

Salesmanship and advertising go together, and a well-written letter in making an application for a position of any kind must contain the element of salesmanship, says Miss Decima J. Salisbury, head of the commercial department Appleton high school.

METHOD DOCTORS ADVISE ENDS COLDS OVERNIGHT

Endorsed as Ideal Way to Stop Head Cold, Cough, Chest Cold — Pleasant for Home Use.

No longer is it necessary to guess in choosing the quickest way to get rid of stuffy head cold, bad cough or deep seated chest cold. For doctors at the clinic have endorsed a hospital tested method for home use which is giving hundreds of Appleton people the same quick relief that came to C. J. Wrenn and so many others who have tried it.

Mr. Wrenn developed a bad head cold which nothing seemed to relieve. He couldn't sleep except to doze off a few minutes and wake up with the feeling that he was being choked. Then he called doctors at the clinic who advised Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of wild cherry, terpin-hydrate and other ingredients which have relieved even the most extreme hospital cases.

With the first swallow he felt its comforting, healing warmth—from his nose passages deep down into his chest. Relief began instantly and the cold was clearing up noticeably in two or three hours. He continued the pleasant doses, and in another day or so, doctors report, there was no trace left of the cough or cold.

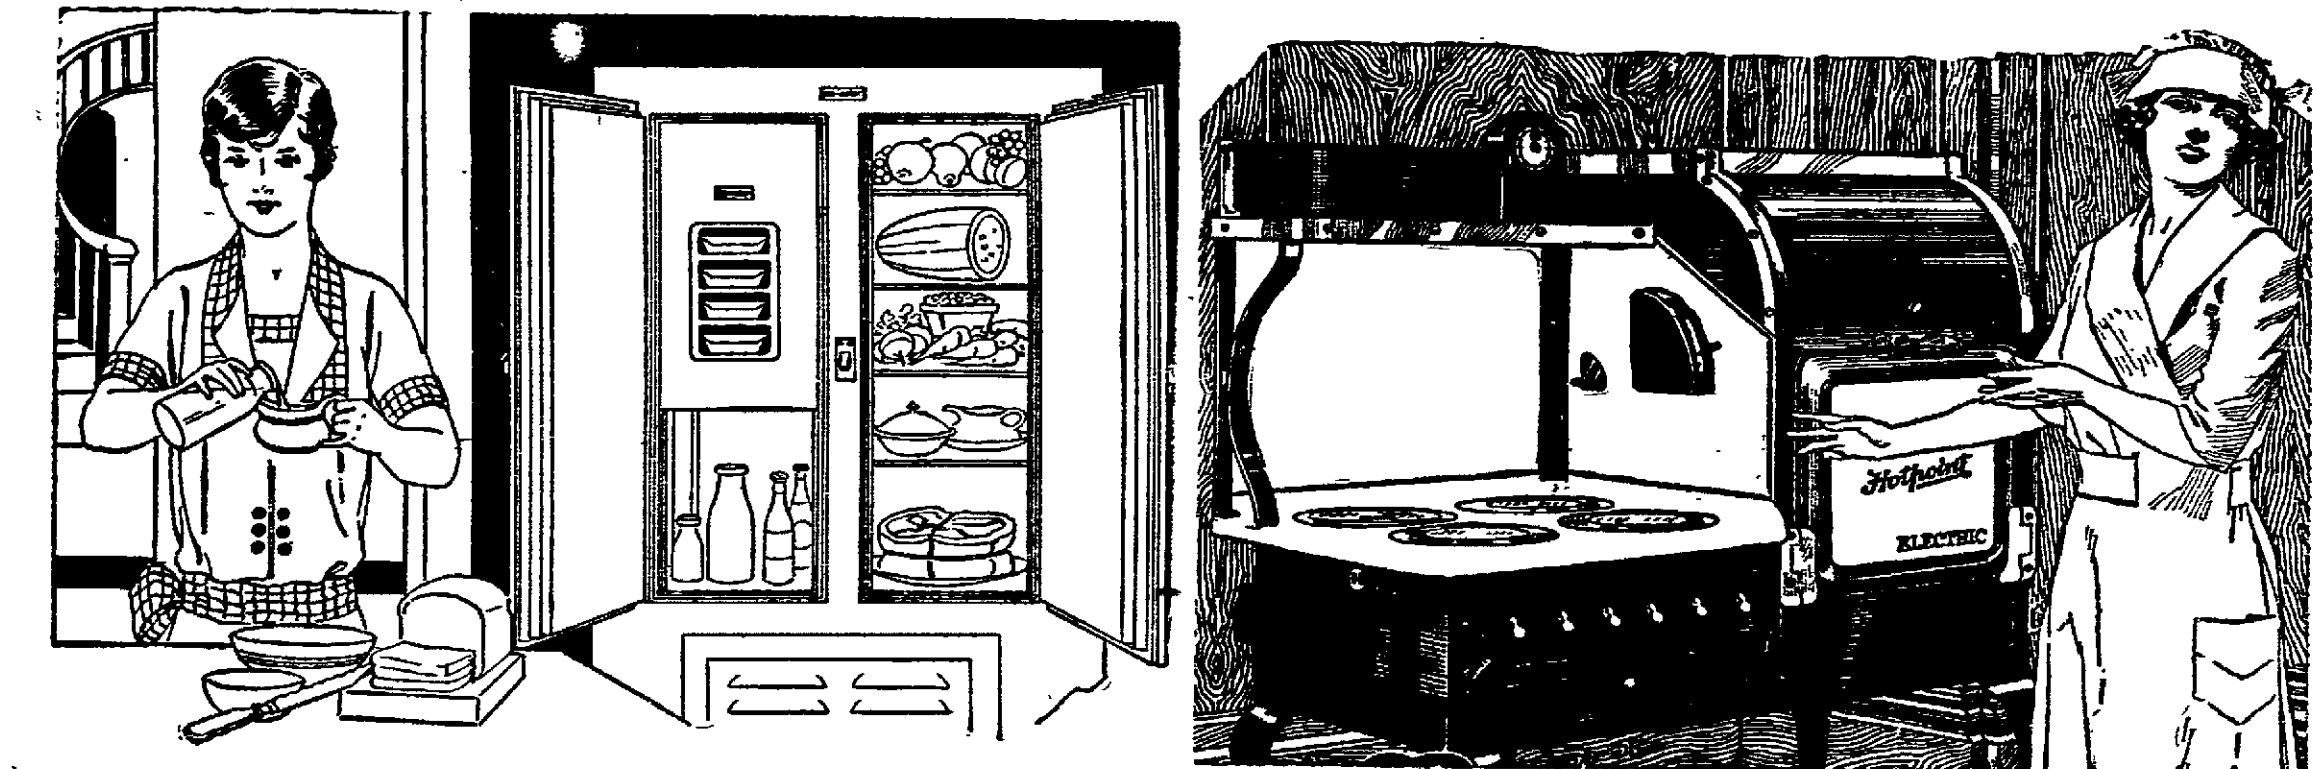

Note: See other cases reported daily—all certified to this paper by the physician who treated each case.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It penetrates and heals inflamed linings of the breathing passages. Absorbed by the system it quickly reduces phlegm, helps allay that "feverish," grippy feeling and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Cherry Pectoral now and you'll feel like a different person tomorrow. Endorsed by Schlitz Bros. and all druggists 60c; twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.

NEENAH SCORES AS GUN BARKS TO WHIP APPLETON CAGE TEAM

Thrilling Basketball Game Made More Spectacular by Last Second Basket

Neenah—The high school basketball team Saturday evening defeated Appleton high school team by a score of 26 to 18 in S. A. Cook armory.

When the score was 18 to 18 and 10 seconds left to play, Schneider, the last Neenah center, dribbled almost the entire length of the floor for a pot shot, which defeated the Appleton team for the second time this season. Capt. Haase was largely responsible for the Neenah team's victory as he was given seven free throw chances and made every one, together with two baskets, totaling 11 points. He was taken out of the line after the fourth shot. Strutz, the flashy Appleton captain, was removed in the same quarter for the same reason.

The game started with Radtke scoring a freethrow and one basket for Neenah and Strutz scored five points almost immediately after the game had started. The score was 5 to 3 at the end of the quarter. Radtke was taken out and replaced by Pratt who made a ringer in the second quarter. The Appleton team got a 10 to 7 lead in the second quarter by free throws by Berg. Neenah, came back strong in the second half and the score at the end of the third quarter, was 12 and 11, still in Appleton's favor. The last quarter was the banner one and both teams played fast ball and the score was tied. In this quarter Goehner came through with two baskets and Radtke, one. Strutz, had registered three baskets before he was taken out.

The Appleton second team defeated the Neenah second team by a score of 16 to 4.

Menasha—Playing before the largest crowd of the season, the Menasha hockey team went down to defeat Sunday before the Appleton Maroons by a score of 3 to 2. Menasha was unable to get started in the first period and Appleton scored two goals in the first five minutes of play. In the last period Menasha was desperate and was in close quarters, had spills going in order. Adrian scored Menasha's first goal on a short shot. Appleton then scored a goal when Pack, local goal tender, left the goal cage with the intention of reaching the puck before an opposing player. Adrian drove in another point for the home team, and coming down the ice the third time to within a foot of the goal. Next Sunday, Appleton high school coach, was the outstanding star. Menasha lined up with Schoepel and Blank wings; Adrian Center; Fairbach and F. Adrian, defense; and Leo Pack, goal. Viatoski replaced Fairbach for a short time in the final period.

Next Sunday, Ford du Lac will invade Menasha for a league game.

THE STORY THUS FAR
When JEFF HARRISON, gambler, is killed in a poker game in Caldwell, Kan., his 13-year-old son TONY, is taken to the Bar K ranch in the Indian territory by JOE CRAIG, who appoints himself the boy's guardian.

There TONY is welcomed by TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K ranch, a little dapper, kindly man. Another who has befriended him is GORDON W. LILLIE, who later becomes known as PAWNEE BILL when he teaches school at the Indian reservation in Pawnee.

In the months that follow, reports come to the Bar K of the activities of the now notorious Benton gang, TOM BENTON being the murderer of Joe Craig and Bill depart for Pawnee Bill. There they learn that he is going to take a bunch of Indians with him and join BUFFALO BILL'S Wild West Show.

CHAPTER XX
It was rather lonely at the ranch. Titus Moore and his wife and daughter had gone to Virginia for a visit, with the likelihood that Rita and her mother would remain and the girl be placed in a finishing school in Richmond.

Mr. Moore had decided that Rita has had enough of the school in Kansas City, and the colonel did not stand in her way. He had resigned himself to seeing less of his wife and daughter until things had shaped themselves more definitely in the Indian territory.

He explained the situation to Tony Harrison when he returned. "Rita's mother never did like it out here any way, and now that Rita's growing up she figures it's no place to rear her as a young lady—as she puts it—and give her some of the educational advantages that young girls ought to have."

"I reckon I can see her way of reasoning all right." He looked over toward the rude dugout, that he had dignified with the name of ranch house. "I guess it is sort of uncomfortable for a woman who's been accustomed to luxuries, most of her life. In Kansas it wasn't so bad; I had a decent house to live in and a barn that wasn't an eyesore. Here, half of the thing that I call a ranch house is dug in the side of a hill, and the excuse for a barn is just a few rough timbers thrown together for the express purpose of keeping the winter winds and snows off that Kentucky thoroughbred of mine."

But, he added, it couldn't be helped. There certainly was a little wisdom in erecting expensive buildings on a ranch that was his only by sufficiency of the Cherokee Indians. The rude buildings were a constant reminder of the uncertainty of his status; there was no telling when the government might decide to run him, and others like him, out of the territory.

"If only I had title to it, Tony, it would be different. But I came down here because I was selfish enough to grab at a chance to run a ranch with no overhead to it. Being unable to lay any plans looking ahead to a permanent stay, is the price I pay for it."

He cast a speculative eye toward Craig and his men, a few rods distant. The spring roundup was on, and Craig was busy supervising the branding of new calves. "I guess," Titus Moore continued with a smile, "Rita's mother was pretty good to stick it out down here as long as she did. She's forgotten what a neighbor looks like."

Tony agreed with him. "I think it was mighty fine of her, considering. And it will be nice for Rita to go to school in the east."

The colonel darted a quizzical look at the boy. "I'll sure miss her, though. Won't you?"

Tony Harrison reddened and shifted uncomfortably. "Why, yes—sure," he answered hesitantly. "It won't seem natural around her without her. She—she's all the time into everything, kind of."

"She insisted that she'd be out here late in the summer," the colonel supplemented. "Before she starts to school."

"Will her mother let her?"

Moore laughed. "When Rita insists, you've just got to let her have her way. I guess you know that."

Tony grinned. "That's right. I guess I'll be giving Joe Craig and the boys a hand."

"Wait a minute," the colonel detained him. "How would you like to go to school, Tony?"

"Who—me?" The boy stared uncomprehendingly, then shook his head. "I've got a living to make, Colonel."

"There's plenty of time to think about that later. I thought maybe if you'd like to go away to school some place it might be arranged. I'd be glad to pay all the bills." He spoke awkwardly, realizing he was making a bad job of putting his thoughts into words.

The boy looked away before answering. "I'm real obliged to you for the offer, but right now I can't see that way. I've got some money myself, as far as that's concerned and I wouldn't have had that if it hadn't been for you."

He pressed Titus Moore's hand earnestly. "I just want to stay on the

Her ears had been pierced to accommodate the small but beautiful pearl ornaments her father had given her on her fifteenth birthday.

Everywhere he went now, as he rode the range in company with Joe Craig or followed the trails he and Rita had ridden over in days past, he thought of her and got constant reminders of her former laughing presence. Here it was that she had summoned him so peremptorily for their first ride together and Joe Craig had been afraid to come to his rescue; here it was that Outlaw had dragged his unconscious form the time she had taunted him into riding the vicious horse; here where they had sat together, his leg in splints, and he had told her about himself and Jeff Harrison, his father.

Along the banks of Cottonwood Creek he rode past hundreds of red-bud trees in flaming purple bloom and sought the spot where he had killed the huge blacksnake that had wrapped itself around the leg of her horse and frightened her into momentary hysteria. He had been proud that day of his marksmanship and his coolness, and not a little contemptuous of her panic.

It was the same everywhere he rode; hardly a spot but conjured forth some poignant memory, and he felt as one who has suffered a great loss. She was gone now, and the ranch would not know her again as it had known her in the past. She might return at the summer's end, but she would not be the same Rita again, and she would go back after a brief visit, back to the east and the gently reared Virginians her mother and father had moved among.

It had been inevitable, of course. This country out here was certainly no place for a woman—not yet at least. Mrs. Moore had made many sacrifices, but denying her daughter the advantages that their money commanded, and letting her remain in a wild, uncertain country where the peculiar conditions of cattle ranching were so dubious as to forbid even the erection of a suitable home, were not included among them. Mrs. Moore was certainly not to be blamed.

What puzzled him was the thing Colonel Moore had said to him about going to school. Was it possible that Titus Moore, seeing a subtle change in him, had invited him to get away from a place that held the ghosts of happy memories? Or had the colonel something else in mind?

He could find no satisfactory explanation. Of one thing he was certain: he would not remain at the Bar K very much longer. During idle intervals he took to reviewing the events of the three years that had elapsed since his father's death, and at times he regretted bitterly that Joe Craig had brought him to the ranch and took to speculating on what might have happened if he had been left to shift for himself.

He worked like a Trojan and sought Craig's companionship that he might not be left alone with his thoughts. He dared not admit to himself the truth: he was too ashamed; people, if they knew, would laugh at him.

DOMINICAN SISTERS PRAISE FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

"FOR COLDS AND BODY BUILDING IT DOES A WORLD OF GOOD," THEY WRITE

The Dominican Sisters of St. Dominic Monastery, La Crosse, Wisconsin have found that for treating and preventing colds and building up the aged and sickly, Father John's Medicine is so effective that they have used it daily for many years.

Following is part of a letter from the Mother Superior:—
"We have found out that there is nothing better than Father John's Medicine for colds, or building up the body. It always helps our weak or delicate sisters, and those who have colds soon recover and grow stronger. We cannot praise Father John's Medicine too highly. We cheerfully recommend it for colds and as a body builder and hope that all who use it may obtain the same wonderful results as we do; it does a world of good."

These good sisters know that they can take Father John's Medicine with confidence as it is absolutely free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. For 70 years it has won similar tributes of praise as the safe family medicine for colds and body building.

OUR NEIGHBORS ON THE SOUTH

The sixth Pan-American conference now being held at Havana is a continuation of the first of such conferences held in the city of Washington in 1889 at the invitation of that great American statesman, James G. Blaine. It is a direct evidence of the spirit of progress of all the countries of the Western Hemisphere. Its purpose is to create a better understanding and to keep fresh the strong ties which should bind the more than twenty separate countries in North and South America.

A difference in language sometimes makes a wide gulf between nations. There is also between the countries of North and South America a marked difference in habits, customs, to some extent in ideals, but these differences must not divide these governments for, underneath, they have the same common foundation, the striving towards perfection in government in the form of representative democracies.

Too often do we in the United States conclude that the Latin Americans are idlers when such is quite an inaccurate estimate of the people. Dreamers, to some extent they may be when compared with our own people, but only dreamers in the sense that their love for art, beauty, music, poetry and color in all forms of life is more apparent than our own. Otherwise they are a practical, industrious, robust race.

It is noticeable that at Havana the United States is taking no steps at all to direct the conference. It is permitting the lesser and the weaker nations to occupy the important positions. Any attempt to guide affairs upon its part would be bad taste and poorer policy. No nations are so jealous of their rights as the little nations nor so fearful of powerful neighbors in spite of the fact that the slightest cause for fear exists. Yet in each of the smaller nations will be found a group activity hostile to the United States, accepting every opportunity to denounce this country and preaching that our only purpose is to eventually gobble up our neighbors. That is demagogic pure and simple, for the Latin American countries have demagogues just as much as we are afflicted with them. And all this in spite of the fact that the greater part, if not all, of the vast territories to the south of us would, were it not for the United States, now be under European yoke, ruled under the mailed fists of Spanish or Portuguese viceroys or captains-general. Independence began to assert itself there about thirty years after our declaration of independence but these little countries could not have stood upon their own feet without the aid of the Monroe Doctrine. When marauding bands of Mexicans cross our borders and destroy the property of American people they are forgetful, if they ever knew, the fact that were it not for the United States Maximilian with an army of European mercenaries would have succeeded in establishing a dynasty there in 1865. But the shrill voice of the demagog can always be raised successfully where his auditors are ignorant even of their own history. And the successful nation can never expect to be a popular nation. We presume it has never been otherwise and that the pathway of the big brother in the world has always been a rough one. However pure his purpose, good his judgment, perfect his ideals, just his demands or clean his record, his motives are continually impugned and he is made the constant object of attack by the uninformed, the demagogues, or someone with an axe to grind.

All in all the record of the countries in the Western Hemisphere is an enviable one. They have never staged a world war nor been the cause of one. The wars between them have amounted to little more than skirmishes and they are heartily ashamed of that little. They have no age-old grievances, no Alsace-Lorraine, nor have they permitted bitter religious controversies to turn into actual strife. That does not mean that they are without problems and serious ones but, as between the nations themselves, they have been able to maintain an admirable degree of restraint and settle their controversies by arbitration. Their difficulties have been mostly internal, and while they have had a surplus of revolutionary movements such turmoil has become less frequent. It should be said in behalf of these many little nations that, once free of colonial exploitation from Europe they started their independent life seriously handicapped. It is not an easy thing to evolve a nation out of almost chaos but that is exactly what has happened. Maintaining in the future a broad spirit of toleration towards one another they will continue to develop along the lines of a liberal civilization to the great benefit of their millions of population.

SMALL CHANGE

It does look as if a thrifty observer of coins and customs is right when he laments that the American nickel is in danger of becoming obsolete. It used to be our most common and useful coin, if we except the cent. The latter is now useful only for buying newspapers. Will the former come to the same humble end?

Think of the things we used to get for a nickel—ice cream soda, street car rides, shoe shines, sandwiches, smokable cigars, and cups of coffee, to mention only a few of the commonest. Now all of these have risen, most of them into the ten-cent class—all except the cup of coffee, which is now rapidly slipping upward to join the others.

There seems to be a sort of fatality about coins, especially small coins. They determine prices. There is seldom any stopping place between a nickel and a dime. And the present tendency is to make them all dimes, including small tips. People feel ashamed now to give a nickel tip for any little service.

In England the "threepence," equal to six of our cents, has long been the virtual equivalent of our dime, because it was the smallest coin in common use, and convenient to handle. Thus in England things could be got for six cents which cost 10 cents here. Similarly in Germany the ten-pfennig piece, resembling our five cent piece and worth two and one-half cents, served the same purpose as the American nickel. But such foreign coins are probably grown too petty now to command respect in their own countries, like our own poor little pennies and nickels.

When will the bottom drop out of our dime, too, and make the quarter our unit of small change?

LAUGHING AT CHILDREN

Do you laugh at your child when he makes ludicrous mistakes in speech, or when he asks apparently foolish questions? Do you call him in when adult guests arrive and have him go through his little stock of "tricks" for them?

If you do, you are doing your child a great wrong, and the time will come when he will suffer for it, even if you don't.

This is on the word of Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers, head of the division of parental education of Western Reserve University, who has made an extended study of child psychology.

Laughing at a child, Dr. Myers explains, destroys its personality. A child asks questions in order to add to its very limited stock of knowledge; when laughed at or ridiculed, he is hurt and decides to stop asking questions—in other words, to censor his remarks, to repress his natural development, to stunt his mental growth.

Inducing a child to "perform" for company is just as bad. The child is made the center of attention, and comes to expect it always. But as it grows older this trait makes it a nuisance. The child finds that attention is suddenly shifted away from it though it behaves just as it always did. Who can measure the suffering that a child in such a situation endures?

The wise parent, according to Dr. Myers, never laughs at his child's mistakes, no matter how funny they are; nor does he ever, under any consideration, make the child "show off" before callers.

Mayor Thompson says crime has been cut 50 per cent since he was elected. Not content with revising the histories, he's giving us a little of his own arithmetic, too.

A doctor says the dresses girls wear nowadays cause most of their ill health. But it might be said they are on the road to recovery, at least.

Speaking of the Pan-American conference, we thought the British people could take care of all that.

Maybe the university authorities who banned automobiles were only taking a rap at companionate carriages.

The Society for the Prevention of Useless Christmas Gifts must have failed terribly this year. Just look at the crime wave.

Judging from the hand he got, you'd almost think President Coolidge swam to Havana.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

FALLACIES WE RELUCT TO RELINQUISH
14—THAT ELIMINATION REQUIRES ATTENTION

A health individual should never worry a bit about his "elimination." An invalid should leave the study of his excretory functions or the deficiencies thereof to his physician. Next to trying on symptoms submitted by a quack or nostrum vendor or a dupe of one of these aggressive merchants, to see whether the symptoms fit your case, perhaps the most futile and fatuous pastime for the health seeker is to indulge in thinking or worrying about his "elimination."

"If you eat rightly and throw off wastes properly you need not go to Florida looking for 'cures,'" writes a former health commissioner (in an ad of a health beverage), and a lay reader might fairly infer from such presumably authoritative assertions that the elimination business deserves one's constant attention.

There is a fairly familiar Scriptural saying to the effect that a man can't add to his stature by taking thought. No amount of constant eating or cogitation about one's excretory functions can favorably affect the business of "throwing off wastes," though there is some reason to believe that such introspection may tend to retard or inhibit certain of the excretory functions of the body.

The very thought conveyed to the layman without knowledge of the rudiments of physiology—and very few laymen have such knowledge, because it is not rehearsed in the common school—by this glib phrase "throwing off wastes" or the slightly more elegant but equally ambiguous term "elimination" is really a function that has no particular relation to excretion, namely the voiding of excrement. This function is independent of the activity or inactivity of excretion of waste-matter from the blood, though in popular fancy the "state of the bowels" is usually accepted as a fair index to the individual's "elimination."

No one can by taking thought increase the rate of excretion or elimination of waste matter or elimination of waste matters through the liver, the mucous membrane, the kidneys or even the lungs. We omit the skin because practically nothing is eliminated or excreted through the skin except salt and water in any circumstance. Until it may be scientifically demonstrated that an individual can by any scheme of his own cause any of these excretory organs to speed up its output of waste matter, by-products of combustion, metabolic cinders, "poisons" or "toxic material" if you prefer the parlance of the shortest healer, the best health policy for you and me is unquestionably a wholesome indifference concerning elimination. Let us endeavor to live by the reasonable rules of hygiene and never mind about elimination. Why worry about a thing over which one has no direct control, anyway?

The frequency or regularity of the bowel movements is not at all indicative of activity or excretion or elimination through the liver or intestinal mucosa. Aside from this, a perfectly normal variation of from one bowel movement every two or three days to two or three movements daily, according to individual anatomical peculiarities and mode of life, invalidates the "state of the bowels" as an index of elimination.

From these unequivocal scientific facts I hope the reader will infer that all talk about "proper elimination" is the bunk, even when medical or health authorities of a sort indulge in it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Baby Has Red Mark

Our baby is 6 months old. He was born with a red mark on his forehead about an inch wide. I saw the doctor about it when he was a few weeks old and he said perhaps when he is older it could be removed with some electric needle. What do you think about it?

Answer—A nevus, birthmark, mole, port wine stain, may be obliterated in various ways, sometimes the electric needle, sometimes carbon dioxide freezing, sometimes diathermy. It is for the doctor to determine the best method in the particular case. As a rule the younger the infant when such a blemish is removed the better the cosmetic result.

RAYNAUD'S DISEASE

Please put me in touch with the correspondent who claimed to know a cure for Raynaud's disease. (L. J. E.)

Answer—The correspondent did not divulge the knowledge. If it is such a secret I cannot consent to the use of this column for the purpose of introducing it. Aside from this, I am under obligation to keep the identity of every correspondent confidential. The best remedy I can suggest for Raynaud's disease ("dead fingers") is diathermy treatment. Good physicians everywhere now have diathermy equipment.

MOLASSES IS GOOD FOOD

Is it harmful for a young man of 21 to substitute molasses for butter at breakfast and supper. (C. J.)

Answer—No, although it would be wise for him to increase his daily consumption of eggs or milk in order to insure the vitamin ration that butter provides and molasses does not. If one can get old fashioned molasses (without sulphur dioxide), it makes a very wholesome item in the diet, especially for active young persons. Most of the so-called molasses on the market today is full of sulphur dioxide. Fortunately there are still a few firms marketing the good old fashioned kind, with the good old fashioned flavor and no bromine.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

A BOOK THAT DOES NOT CLASH

Robert Nathan's newest book, "The Wood-Cutter's House," defies classification. It is neither fish nor fowl, neither novel nor romance, neither realistic nor romantic.

Such a book often has a hard time of it with both the critics and the readers. The average person likes a book that can be put and then stays put. The reviewer like to talk learnedly about what "school" a writer belongs to. The readers like a story that does not bewilder them. The romantic writer has his audience, the realistic writer has another audience, the writer of pure idyls still another. But what about the book that isn't one of those but a strange mixture of them all? Usually it has to find readers by the painful process of luring one here, one there from all the various audiences. It never finds an audience ready made for it. It has to assemble listeners that are as unlike as mice and elephants and appeal to something in them that is common to all.

"The Wood-Cutter's House" is hard to describe. The obvious fact about it is that it is written in beautiful English. Another obvious fact is that it is much more significant than it appears on the surface. Still another fact is that, in spite of its semi-attitude of telling a tale that is half fairy story, half idyl, it is thoroughly modern in purpose and spirit. It could not have been written by anyone who was not a true child of the twentieth century.

The story itself is so slight that giving a synopsis of it almost reduces it to absurdity. A young girl left alone in the world by death starts out, with her dog, to climb Hemlock mountain. She gets lost and finds shelter in a wood-cutter's house. There she stays on. The uncle, whose sole ambition in life is to raise the largest head-lettuce in the county, despises his nephew, the wood-cutter because he has nothing of the go-getter in him but looks upon wood-cutting as an art and makes no attempt to get on in the world.

Mixed in with all this are conversations between a horse and a dog, a dog and a mouse, and so on—on the surface a hedge-podge of stuff with not the slightest relation to the main story. But these animal talks are often delicious satires on present-day institutions, on courtship and marriage, and without seeming to do so at the time they create an atmosphere that the author is after.

In the course of the story, if it can be called a story, the idyllic wood-cutter is saved by the girl from a marriage with a banker's sister that would have made him over into a go-getter and then when he falls in love with her and is in the act of making himself over in the same way, he is saved by her from that prompter and comforter, she gives him up and disappears, going back to her old home.

The whole thing is flimsy and shadowy, so far as story value goes. The writer says that it is reminiscent of "Cranford" rather than of anything more modern, but he adds that it is a post-Darwinian "Cranford." "The rustic peace and simplicity have survived and even become further intensified, but the ignorance which was taken for innocence is gone—at least out of the author's mind." The book is so short that it can be read in an hour and that, together with the slightness of its material, is deceptive. It would be possible for a so-called sociologist to write a big tome of close print on the same subject and say no more or so no deeper.

The artist in a go-getting age is always in mortal peril, Nathan tells us without seeming to do so. The danger is great that the go-getter will destroy him by bribing him with the only rewards they can give. The danger is still greater that he himself will destroy himself through love. The theme is almost the same as that of "The Moon and Sixpence" and a thousand other novels: How can the artist become a "success" and remain an artist?

Often the back sounds like a children's story, although written in much more distinguished English than children's books usually are, but in reality it is completely adult and only for adults.

The Question Box

Information on almost any subject can be secured by sending questions to the Post-Crescent Information Bureau. Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington D. C. The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine nor does it express opinions on the merits of stocks and bonds. Send a 2-cent stamp or a stamped and self-addressed envelope with your question.

THRILLING FOREMANSHIP FOUND IN "JESSE JAMES"

One hundred and fifty horsemen riding headlong down a steep embankment into a swiftly flowing river and swimming across in a shower of spray is one of the extraordinary sights in Fred Thomson's first Paramount production "Jesse James" which reaches Appleton Theatre next Monday. Rarely in picture history have horsemen ridden their mounts into water in close formation at top speed. Even armies seldom attempt it in war time, because those men who lose their balance are in danger of being kicked to death.

Before attempting it for screen purposes Mr. Thompson personally watched every man in his outfit—all trained cowboys and former cavalrymen—to make sure they could do it alone or in small groups.

When the char was finally made the cameras were stationed on platforms built in the middle of the stream.

The scene is supposed to show the pursuit of Quantrell's Partisan Ranger, a Civil War guerrill outfit of which Frank and Jesse James were members, in a retreat from pursuing Union Cavalry.

GILDA GRAY DOES NEW "DEVIL DANCE"

Bringing something new, something altogether different to the screen, has earned the following comment on Samuel Goldwyn from one of the leading critics of Los Angeles: "He is an adventuresome soul—a man who likes to try the unusual and watch the effects."

In his latest undertaking, "The Devil Dancer," starring Gilda Gray at the Elite Theatre 4 days starting today, a new exotic and appealing dance, created by the same Gilda Gray who shook the seductive "Shimmy" into national popularity. In the production, the dance becomes a motive for the exotic loveliness of an English girl, brought up by the Black Lamas of Tibet, a devil worshipping and strange sect, who offer the vestal virgin, symbolically, as bride to their devil-god.

From this sensuous and weird ritual dance, Miss Gray has created a modern counterpart, with Clive Brook, her leading man in this production.

"The dance typifies the weird ceremony that still exists in Tibet when a pure, vestal virgin is offered to the devil deity," said Miss Gray. "The steps are comparatively simple and the whole body is called upon to express the ritual. It involves the dedication of first the eyes, then the ears, and other parts of the body, finally the soul."

REALTORS OBJECT TO PROPOSED STATE TAX

Appleton Assemblyman Receives Objection to Normal School Fund

Objection to a proposed mill tax to raise $10,000.00 in a period of six years for the expansion of state normal schools and for the state board of control is expressed in a letter to Oscar J. Schmieg, Appleton, first Outagamie district assemblyman, from Illinois with a similar institution, the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers.

The realtors base their objections to the mill tax on the ground that burdent will fall on the farmers and home owners.

All the money must come from the property tax, the realtors point out, and although the state institutions are worthy of consideration, this would be a heavy burden on the farmers and home owners. They cannot pay down the taxes, the realtors say, whereas it is usually admitted that other forms of taxes can be shifted to the actual consumer.

By cutting down the number of normal schools, the burden would be reduced considerably, the realtors say. They compare Wisconsin, which is supporting 12 normal schools, with Illinois which has only one. Roads and schools require approximately 70 per cent of the tax money, so it is suggested that normal schools be

KAUKAUNA - LITTLE CHUTE - KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSWORK OUT DEFINITE
PLANS FOR ANNUAL
MID-WINTER FAIRHotel Man's Proposition to Be Considered at Advancement
Club Meeting

Kaukauna—Final details for the mid-winter fair to be held here Feb. 16 and 17 will be worked out at a meeting of the Kaukauna Advancement association in the council chamber of the municipal building on Wednesday evening. W. P. Hagman, general fair chairman, will announce the remaining committee appointments after which there will be a general discussion of the fair. Some of the committees, including the one on school exhibits, have started work. The school exhibits will be bigger and larger than ever before, according to J. P. Cavagnaro, superintendent of schools, chairman of the school exhibit committee.

C. L. Harriman, owner of the north side Congress hotel, has offered the use of the hotel free for the fair if it is needed. Buildings to be used besides the hotel will be the high school, the municipal building and the annex and perhaps the Legion building. Mr. Harriman and another hotel man will attend the association meeting to make another report on the disposal of the old Congress hotel. The last time Mr. Harriman was in town he suggested forming a corporation with $75,000 in stock. He named $65,000 as his selling price for the hotel but agreed to spend $10,000 of the amount in equipping the building and investing another $10,000 in stock in the proposed corporation. This plan seemed to meet with considerable favor among businessmen and it is possible that definite action will be taken at this meeting.

George L. Smith also will report on the proposed theater and apartment building. Mr. Smith has been in touch with a representative of the United States Corporation and it is understood that the company has made a definite proposition to the city. Just what this will be will be made known at the meeting.

STUDENTS PRESS TICKET

Kaukauna—The last number of the program sponsored by the students of Kaukauna High school will be presented at the city auditorium at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening by the Theresa Sheehan Concert company. Students have been engaged in selling tickets during the last week and a fairly large advance sale has been reported. The school has gone slightly behind in the two previous companies and an attempt to make up the deficit will be made on Tuesday evening.

OTHER SCHOOLS BIDDING FOR M'ANDREWS' HELP

Kaukauna—Coach Harry McAndrew's success in his last year as athletic coach at Kaukauna High school has caused a large number of the bigger state schools to bid for his services. Included among his offers is one from St. John's Military Academy at Delafield. Directors of the school entertained the coach over the weekend. Previous to leaving for Delafield Mr. McAndrew said that he did not believe a change likely as he stated that he was the cousin of a coach and it is his desire to give up coaching for the pursuit of law in the near future. Of course it was understood that the popular Kaw coach might consider the change if agreeable terms could be arranged.

In his first year at Kaukauna he won the Northwestern Wisconsin interscholastic conference football title and established quite an enviable record in athletics while a student at Wisconsin.

COLLEGIANS TRAVEL

A game is being arranged between the Kimberly pro team and the All-Collegians to be played at the Kaukauna High school gym next week.

The scout movement in the city is being sponsored by the Parent Teacher's association which has appointed an executive committee to cooperate with Mr. Ransley.

VALLEY FANS FLOCK
TO MILWAUKEE FIGHTHope to See Zwick Put Up Interesting
Battle With Buddy
Taylor

Kaukauna—Phil Zwick, local featherweight, will enter the ring with Buddy Taylor of Terre Haute in Milwaukee on Tuesday evening on the short end of the betting odds. This fact however, will not prevent a large number of Kaukauna fans from journeying down to the Cream city to see the ten round fracas.

The Taylor fight will be Zwick's second "big" chance. He lost his first to Joey Sangor of Milwaukee at that city on New Year's day. Outside of this one defeat from an older and much more experienced ring opponent Phil has a good record and the Kaw fans and a large number of Milwaukeeans will be pulling for the local boy. In meeting Taylor, Zwick again bumps up against a man more experienced in the ring than himself, one who will attempt to keep away from Phil's wicked right, his best bet for winning. Experts agree that there is no question about Zwick's ability to rattle an opponent's teeth with his right hand, but most of them believe he doesn't do it very often against a smart fighter.

Here is where Zwick wants to show the boys his boxing. But wrong Ring-side sport writers at the Zwick Sangor fight claim landed solidly on Sangor's jaw but twice, by far an insufficient number of times to win the decision. To win from the experienced Buddy Taylor the Kaw battler must land more often and his best chance is a knockout. Ed Dunn, prominent Milwaukee sport writer says about the forthcoming fight, "Taylor's experience is a mighty asset against Zwick, who has many things to learn about his business. Polish and ring wisdom are qualities that do not develop overnight. It takes years of combat to learn the many little things that combine to make a ring general. Zwick knows this and Taylor knows this. Zwick knows that his wisest campaign was to pump that right hand at his foe's blind jaws. But wrong sport writers at the Zwick Sangor fight claim that he must keep the play from Phil and if he doesn't it will mean that he isn't himself."

Taylor has held the bantamweight championship for quite some time and in meeting Zwick he will be against a man more nearly his weight. Like Phil, Taylor has been forced to give away many pounds to get fights and he has lost a number of matches to heavier boys, including Joey Sangor.

Both Zwick and Taylor finished training at Morgenroth's gymnasium at Milwaukee on Saturday afternoon and then were formally introduced to each other. They meet again in the headline of the Tuesday evening boxing card at the Milwaukee auditorium. The two scrappers reported in Milwaukee on Saturday evening.

Taylor's training program includes, besides the interesting windup, four preliminaries as follows: Harry Kahn of Milwaukee vs Joe Chaney of Baltimore, six round semi-windup; Mickey O'Neil, of Milwaukee vs Al Ilzo of Rockford, Ill., four rounds and Louis New of Milwaukee vs Young Bradshaw of Janesville, four rounds.

It is estimated that fifty Kaw fans will attend the fight. About hundred were present at the Sangor-Zwick battle.

KAUKAUNA GET ANOTHER
CRACK AT SHAWANO TEAM

Kaukauna—Kaukauna High school basketballers play a return game with Shawano High school at the local school gymnasium Friday evening. The Kaws dropped a game to the north-eastern last Friday night by a 21 to 13 score. This will be the fourth North eastern Wisconsin interscholastic conference game for the Kawmen.

Coach Harry McAndrews found considerable improvement in the team that clashed with the north-eastern on Friday evening and the few weaknesses that did make themselves known can be corrected by next time Friday. The squad is showing more team play and a close score can be looked for. So far this season the McAndrewmen have been unfortunate in bumping up against some of the strongest quints in this section of the state and have lost games to Appleton, Two Rivers and East De Pere besides the Shawano game.

Prince Pays For Home By Saving Life Of Newsboy

Sherwood—A year ago he was just a plain tramp dog, tumbled and unkempt as the run of his brotherhood, canine, lupine or human. Now he's worthy of the name he bears and the peer of the proudest St. Bernard who ever dared the hazards of the Alps to redeem human life from the lord of the snows.

Clifford Koutnick, his master, thinks he "ought to have a Carnegie medal." And Clifford doesn't ask too much, for he owes his life to his friend.

A week ago Sunday Clifford hitched Prince to his sled for a joy-ride on a pond near his home. When the sled reached the center of the pond, the ice, weakened by rain and warm weather, and a warm bed in the stable. Boy and dog were instant friends, and Clifford began a home for the waif.

His request was granted, but not before Mr. Koutnick advertised for the owner, for Prince radiated canine aristocracy even through his unkempt appearance. No one claimed him, and no one wants anyone to claim him now.

The Koutnick family moved from Kaukauna about two years ago. Clifford was a welcome for his old friends, and decided that there was no better way to become acquainted than to become a newsboy for the Post-Crescent.

When Prince came along, he decided to have a share in the delivery. Clifford pieced together a harness for the dog, who is of the St. Bernard type, and hitched him to his wagon in summer, and either sled or toboggan in winter. The people of the village call his evening's delivery "the dog's run."

The dog, who has increased his patrons from 21 to 35, has earned his keep. He has increased his patrons from 21 to 35, has earned his keep. He has increased his patrons from 21 to 35, has earned his keep.

A year ago Prince, nameless then, came to the Koutnick home to beg for a hand-out. Pleading face, looking as if it expected a rebuff or worse, but still dared hope, and a bone-provoked neighbor was eloquent of the fact that he had not had a square meal for days. He was given food.

CRAB'S EMOTIONS SHOWN
That crabs have some emotions and not others was demonstrated by scientists in London recently. It was shown that a crab fettered by one claw and left with food just out of reach will starve to death, but the placing of a polyp, the crab's deadly enemy near it, will cause the prisoner to become convulsed with fear. The shock causes the tied claw and drug addiction. It is the crustacean can scuttle away to safety.

NEENAH HIGH CAGERS TAKE SECOND VICTORY OVER ORANGE

Inability To Cage Free Throws Loses 20-18 Game For Appleton High Quint

Schneller Sinks Winning Basket in Final 15 Seconds of Exciting Game

A basket by Schneller, lanky center of the Neenah high school Giants in the final 15 seconds of play, gave Coach Ole Jorgensen's Red and White Neenah high basketball team their second consecutive victory of the season over Coach Joseph Shields' Appleton high school cagers Saturday evening at St. A. Cook Armory, Neenah. The score was tied at 18-18 when Schneller's net shot went through the netting giving the home team a 20-18 victory and the first clean sweep over an Appleton high aggregation on the courts. Often Neenah has taken care of the annual annual game with Appleton, but never before has it been a clean sweep. Neenah's team this year is extra strong while the Orange is weaker than usual.

Showing much better play than when they lost to Neenah by five points here a few weeks ago, the Neenah team played a much more aggressive game and, although playing on the visitor's floor, outplayed them at times. The Appleton team outscored the taller home boys from the field, but inability to score on free throws lost the game. Appleton made only four extra tries in several last attempts while Neenah's was less than that number of those tried, staying in the running until Schneller's final basket, mainly from the free throw line.

Berg and Gochnauer, subbing for Dowdy, showed the best play offensively for the Orange and Strutz and Johnson shone on defense. Dowdy continued to have bad luck with the hoop and Gochnauer replaced him playing a steady, fighting game. Strutz played his best game of the year at guard, his new position. Rath was unable to show his usual shooting eye with men more his size camped on his trail.

NORTHERN QUINT WINS 2 GAMES, LOSES MATCH

Hotel Northern bowlers took two games of a match with the Junction Five Friday evening at the Eagle alleys, but lost the match by the slim margin of 5 pins in a closely-contested battle when the Junction men took a big win in the second game. The Northern opened with a 16-pin win and lost the second game by 38, to give the Junction team a 22-maple lead. The third and deciding game went to the Northern but by only 14 pins, not enough to overcome the 22-pin deficit.

MICHIGAN GRAPPLERS BEAT WEST VIRGINIA

Expect Four Clubs Will Battle For N. L. Pennant

New York (AP)—A winter season that saw some of the game's most prominent stars bought, sold or traded, apparently has set the stage for another free-for-all scramble for National League pennant honors next summer.

The sensational player shifts of the offseason have left four clubs, and possibly six, to be reckoned with in any discussion of championship potentialities. Heading the list are the Pittsburgh Pirates, defending titleholders. Donie Bush, cracking like second pennant in as many years at the helm of the Corsair crew, probably will find chief opposition coming from the St. Louis Cardinals, led by their new manager, Duff McKenne, have high hopes of beating the field to the wire in 1928.

The Cubs, sensations for a time last year, are expected to have added strength in one spot only to take it from another. With the addition of Cuyler, Joe McCarthy's fly-chasers should compile many base hits but the loss of Adams has weakened a none too strong infield. Jack Hendricks stands pat on his Cincinnati lineup, who closed the season in 1927 with a fine record of .350. If the club gets off on the right foot, Hendricks feels that he will be in the thick of the fight all year. The fans up there are hoping for another "miracle team" under the new manager, Jack Spaworth. With Hornsby to supply the spark in the offense and ready the infield at the same time, the Braves figure to be the "dark horse" of the pennant struggle.

Brooklyn has gathered together some minor league stars and Dave Barnhart, former Braves manager, to back up the team. Numerous recruits will make the trip to the Phil's training quarters but it remains to be seen whether they can enable the club to climb out of the depths.

Kaukauna Y. M. C. A. vs. Citizens Bank.

Easily outplaying their rivals for top honors in the Appleton Industrial Commercial League offensive in the final half and holding them to a single goal, the Appleton Coated Paper Co. quint defeated the Weber Co. Knits in a loop game Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, by a score of 21-11. The win held first place for the Coateds as the Fox River cagers also won to clinch that half-game margin behind the leaders. The Foxmen had easy sailing with the Kaukauna Mulford and took a one-sided 40-11 win that would have put them on top of the loop had the Coateds lost. The Webbers dropped to fourth place by their defeat.

The game started with the Coateds piling up a 10-0 lead before the Webbers could get started, but three field goals from pretty shots by Versteegen made it 7-6 at the quarter. Versteegen added a ringer and a Coated man did the same and free throws made 10-9 at the half. Kneip replaced Reetz at the half and the trouble started for the Webbers. The new player dropped two baskets, including a one-hand shot over his head and a free throw to start the Coated rally and keep his team ahead. The only Weber maker was a sensational shot from mid-floor by Furringer, inability to make the free throw line by the losers kept the game from being close as enough shots were missed to tie the score. The Webbers played ragged ball the final period, when the game might have ended somewhat like the first period had they played in their usual form.

WALSH TO STROKES BACK OF LEADER IN TOURNEY

Frank Walsh, professional at the Butte des Morts Country club, was in the first day's play of 36 holes in the $2,600 El Paso open golf tournament, Saturday at El Paso, Tex., with a 154. 19 strokes behind first place, which was held by Al Espinosa, Chicago Professional Golf association champion. Walsh was tied with the other 100 players in the 154 stroke group.

Espinosa scored 66 for the second 18 holes Saturday afternoon, four under par, which gave him a 144 with his morning's 70, the same score as Walsh had in the morning. The 75 is two over par for the course. Second place was held by Larry Nibbellet, Cleveland, and Billy Burke, New York, each of whom turned in scores of 76.

Gay Paulsen, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, for amateur British champion, tied for third place with 155.

SUPERIOR PLAY GIVES INDIANS EASY TRIUMPH

Bloomington, Ind. (AP)—The superior pass-work of Indiana cut through the Illinois defense in the second half of a Big Ten basketball game here Saturday night to give Indiana victory, 44-20.

The Crimson outfit assumed victory proportions as the period progressed and Willie Correll and McCracken slipped through for easy baskets. Coach Brink was using substitutes when the game ended.

Captain Olson, and How, the Illinois sharpshooters, had an early rally that led the score, 15-16. At the half, after the hoosiers had gained a 10 to 5 lead.

GREAT INTEREST IN ZWICK-TAYLOR BOUT

Kaw Crowd Refuses to Desert Youth Who Lost to Sangor

Milwaukee (AP)—Boxing interest in Milwaukee this week will center on the fight between Phil Zwick and Bud Taylor at the Auditorium Tuesday night, in which the Terre Haute blond returns to a local ring for the first time since he was given a lacing by Joey Sangor, and in which Zwick gets his second "flyer shot."

Taylor naturally is a favorite over Kaukauna's favorite son, but Zwick again will find himself popular with the more daring watering boys who like the short end. Zwick's punch is about his only asset against Buddy, but some heavy hit an asset worth sampling on.

There is no question about Zwick's ability to rattle an opponent's teeth with his right hand, but he doesn't do it very often against a smart fighter. He shook up Joey Sangor in the eighth round. He did it earlier in the fight, but he didn't do it enough to overcome the lead Sangor had piled up.

Taylor's experience is a mighty asset against Zwick who has many things to learn about his business. Polish and ring wisdom are qualities that do not develop over night. It takes years of combat to learn "ring" and the trouble started for the Webbers could get started, but three field goals from pretty shots by Versteegen made it 7-6 at the quarter.

Hopple's Wieners took two games of a match with the Hotel Northern Apption quint Sunday at the Elk alleys, but lost the battle when the Hotel men finished the match with a 10-2 margin. The Hotel men won by 24 pins. The Wieners opened with a 2-pin triumph when both teams rolled 200 games, and then added 118 in the second game, for a 120-maple lead. In the third and deciding game the Hotel men rolled that 19 score and won by 154 pins, to take the match by a 24-pin margin. Four members of the Hotel five hit over 200 in that final 1,000 game.

Appleton high school's second basketball team split even in two games played over the weekend, losing to the strong Yllwicks of Appleton Friday evening at Army G. 15-7, and winning from the Neenah high school Saturday evening at St. A. Cook Armory, Neenah, 18-7.

JACK LOCKWILL'S HELPING HAND

"Neither one, sir!" replied Sinnott, with a show of innocent resentment. He stepped outside and faced the man. "You've come to the wrong place, Mr. Grubb." "Oh, all right!" said Grubb. "I didn't catch ye this time, but I will next. There's something going on around this house that's got to be stopped." The watching boys snickered behind his back as he turned away.

"You lied to him, Jerry," said Jack, when they were again alone in their room. "I had to," defended Sinnott. "The old snooper almost caught me before I got in."

"Now tell me what you were doing outside at this time of night," urged Jack. "Oh, maybe I was out to a party - or something," evaded Sinnott. "I didn't mean for you to get wise to it. Let's go to bed." The following morning, as he was dressing, Jack found his money, every cent of it, in his pocket. "But I knew I didn't dream I saw Jerry take it," he told himself. ROONEY NOMINATED AS ALTERNATE TO DEMOCRATS CONCLAVE

Ninth District Democrats,
Meeting in Green Bay, Rap
John M. Callahan

Although he did not attend the meeting, F. J. Rooney of Appleton was chosen as an alternate delegate from the Ninth district of Wisconsin to the Democratic national convention at Houston, Texas, at a district meeting Saturday at Green Bay. James Hughes, De Pere, and L. J. Evans, Marinette chosen candidates for delegates and Carl Riggan, mayor of Oconto, was nominated as the other alternate. Mr. Callahan pledged to support Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York for president. Outagamie county Democrats were said to have been represented at the Green Bay meeting but as far as could be learned here none from Appleton attended.

The "high handed methods" of John M. Callahan, Milwaukee, national Democratic committeeman, were denounced as "boss rule" in a resolution adopted by the Democrats on Saturday at Green Bay. The resolution, introduced by Mr. Callahan, was called "undemocratic" because he "met with a few of his friends to select delegates in the different congressional districts as well as the four delegates at large, including himself as one."

The resolution was introduced by Joseph Martin, former national committeeman and for several years chairman of the state central committee. The first resolution was followed by another, also by Mr. Martin, instructing John A. Kuyper, secretary of the ninth congressional conference, to call a state-wide conference of Democrats in Milwaukee, Feb. 4, to recommend four delegates at large to the national convention.

HUGHES LEAD ATTACK
James Hughes, De Pere, chairman of the district committee, opened the conference with an attack on the methods employed by Mr. Callahan and some of the members of the state central committee in recommending candidates as delegates and called upon Mr. Martin to give the history of the present difficulty in the party in this state.

Mr. Martin charged that, when Otto La Budde called a meeting of the state central committee, Callahan, upon learning of the meeting obtained proxies from members of the committee irregularly. Then when the meeting was called to order, Mr. Martin said Callahan caused resolutions to be adopted instructing the state chairman not to assist in the calling of any district conferences nor to call a state conference.

"Callahan with his nine friends at a dinner party then selected the delegates from each district and also the four delegates at large," said Mr. Martin.

Mr. Callahan voted proxies given to him by members of the committee from his district and the vote was therefore irregular.

"LA BUDDÉ'S HANDS TIED"
It was decided to ask Mr. Kuyper to call the state conference because La Budde's hands were tied by the action of the few members of the central committee working with Callahan, Mr. Martin said.

The resolution declared it to be the sole right and privilege of the Democrats of this district to choose those whom they want to represent, their district and believe it to be in the interest of party harmony to have delegates at large recommended by a state conference.

L. J. Evans, Marinette, who was selected by the Milwaukee group as one of the delegates from this district, was present and repudiated the action taken at that meeting. He was named by the district committee as a delegate, however. The other delegate named from this district was Mr. Hughes.

A resolution presented by E. F. Murphy, Marinette, endorsing the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith for president, was received with applause and unanimously adopted. The district delegates were instructed to promote the candidacy of New York governor until released by a majority vote of the Wisconsin delegation. Brown county, Oconto county, Marinette county, Kewaunee county and Outagamie county were represented at the meeting. Regrets with wishes of good will, were received from Democrats in Langlade and Door counties. Florence and Forest counties did not report.

Milwaukee—Describing his critics at Green Bay as all "McAdoo men, except one," and announcing himself for "Al Smith, first, last and all the time," John M. Callahan, Democratic national committeeman for Wisconsin, said Saturday night that he was not surprised the action taken by the ninth congressional group.

Mr. Callahan said that he would issue a statement which would clearly define his position. He was reluctant to make an impromptu statement. Mr. Callahan denied that he had had any friction with Otto La Budde.

"I recommended Mr. La Budde," he said, "I have never had any words with him."

When Mr. Callahan was told the language of the resolution adopted at Green Bay he said, "I am not bothering over what Mr. Martin said."

The complete slate of delegates to the national Democratic convention pledged to support Gov. Alfred E. Smith, New York, for president has been placed in the field in Wisconsin. Delegates at large are John M. Callahan, Milwaukee; George Dwinell, Waukegan; John Moran, Madison; Ferris White, River Falls.

J. A. KIMBERLY IS DEAD IN CALIFORNIA

Immense holdings into Canada. While Mr. Kimberly has not been actively connected with the affairs of the company for several years, his courage and business sagacity were chiefly responsible for its early development and expansion.

Intensely interested in civic affairs and with a life-long loyalty to Neenah, the scene of his industrial achievements, Mr. Kimberly preferred to do his part in the up-building of the community outside of public office. Though compelled during the latter years of his life to seek a milder climate, he was always interested in Neenah's development.

He was one of the original incorporators of the First National Bank of Neenah and served on its first board of directors. He was re-elected continuously and was at the time of his death the oldest acting director of any national bank in the United States, in point of continuous service. He served as president of the bank from 1905 to 1911, at which time he resigned, to accept the chairmanship of the board of directors.

Mr. Kimberly was greatly interested in education and was for many years a member of the board of education here. He was mainly responsible for the present high school. And when it was built he aided directly by contributing funds for the equipment of the manual training department. His generousity was acknowledged by the school's being named for him—the Kimberly High School.

In his early life he took an active part in church work. He was a life-long member of the Presbyterian Church and for many years was superintendent of the Sunday School here.

Until recently he held his membership in the Union League club of Chicago.

On November 1, 1885, Mr. Kimberly was married at Logansport, Ind. to Miss Helen Cheney. To is survived by his widow and seven children: John Alfred Kimberly, Jr., of Oshkosh; Mrs. W. Z. Stuart and James Cheney Kimberly of Neenah; Mrs. C. Edwin Bergstrom, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Nathan Paine, of Florida; Mrs. Clinton J. Curtis of Long Beach, Calif. and Mrs. E. W. Shirk of Redlands, Calif. Ten grandchildren also survive.

Services are being held at Redlands, Calif., on Monday, Jan. 24, at which the body will be brought to Neenah for interment in the family vault in Oak Hill cemetery. Private funeral services, for members of the family, only, will be held Friday, Jan. 27, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. W. Z. Stuart, 406 E. Wisconsin-ave. Neenah. HAVANA CONFERENCE DISCUSSES TARIFF

A rigorous attack against high tariffs in Inter-American trade and against the principles of assessing these so as to equalize the cost of production, was delivered Monday morning at a committee meeting of the conference by Honorable Pueyrredon, head of the Argentine delegation and ambassador at Washington. He declared that his practice worked on the grievous damage of friendly Pan-American relationships and violated the original purpose of Pan-Americanism.

Senor Pueyrredon did not mention the United States in his speech, but some of the delegates thought the American tariff was mentioned at the conference. He declared that if this practice was still maintained, then, other countries of the new world should announce their solidarity with any one republic suffering in consequence of practices of this kind.

The collective spirit which Pan-Americanism denoted, he argued, rendered it imperative that the suffering of one component of the American union should be considered as the suffering of the whole family of republics.

TRUGUAY TAKES HAND
Havana—(AP)—A projected resolution to be submitted to a special committee of the Sixth Pan-American conference by Dr. Jacobo Varela, Truguy, reporter of the committee on organization, is in direct opposition to the board of directors.

No direct mention is made of Mexico's resolution, which has been prepared for filing Monday, seeking sweeping changes in the official personnel of the union. The revisions sought by Mexico provide, among other things, that all nations shall have the right to serve as president of the union in alphabetical order.

Dr. Varela's report presented this morning at a committee meeting of the Pan-American Union recommended modification of Article V, defining the functions of the Pan-American union and setting forth that the governing body prepare the program and formulate the regulations of the international conference of American States.

Specific definition of the library of the union is proposed by the recommendation that it be made the depository of one copy of all resolutions on the same basis as publications sent to national libraries. The cooperation of the governments is sought for the promotion of the exchange of publications relative to union activities.

SUPERVISORS GIRD FOR FIGHT TO GET TRUNK ROAD PAVED

Proponents of Surfaced Road to Kaukauna on South Side of River Busy

Preparations for a determined fight to adopt a resolution authorizing a county bond issue for paving County Trunk S from Appleton to Kaukauna on the south side of the Fox river are being made by supervisors from Appleton, Kaukauna, Combined Locks and Little Chute. Proponents hope to secure enough votes at the special session of the county board on Feb. 15 to adopt their proposal and they hope to have work on the project started in spring.

Those backing the project are: Supervisors John H. Niesen, Kaukauna; John Tracy, Appleton; Joseph Doerflinger, Kimberly; Malachi Ryan, Combined Locks, and Anton Jansen, Little Chute.

The matter of paving the road was taken up by the county board at its November session but action was deferred until February to allow the highway commission to find a way to finance the improvement. It was pointed out at the November session that no more highway appropriations are possible for next year and practically the only way to raise the money is by bond issue.

"I have been working for five years to have the county pave this road," said Supervisor Tracy.

"I am in favor of a bond issue or any other method of raising the funds for this improvement because of the great need for it. The maintenance cost of this road every year exceeds $5,000 and this amount would more than pay the interest on any investment the county would make on this highway."

"Something must be done to this highway at once," said Supervisor Doerflinger, president of the village of Kimberly. "In a few more years Highway 41, which is the only paved road leading to Appleton from Kaukauna, Little Chute and Kimberly, will be so crowded with traffic that the county will be forced to take some steps to relieve the congestion."

"Highway 41 already is in poor shape and unless some of the heavy traffic is diverted to another road the county will face the problem of repaving within a few years," Mr. Doerflinger stated. "County Trunk S is at present in no condition to bear heavy traffic."

"Paving of County Trunk S would be a big benefit to Kaukauna and Appleton and it would be a bigger benefit to the county at large," Supervisor Niesen of Kaukauna said. "Highway 41 is congested every summer and one way of diverting some of the traffic would be to pave the road on the south side of the river. It is an improvement that has been needed for many years and I am ready to support any measure which insures the project."

Supervisor Ryan, president of the village of Combined Locks, said he also has long seen the need for a paved highway on the south side of the river and he hopes that the county board will make some provision for pavement at its February session. Resolutions approving the highway have been adopted by the councils of Kaukauna, Appleton, Kimberly and Combined Locks.

POLICE LIST DRIVERS WITHOUT LICENSES

Names of all drivers whose licenses are revoked by Outagamie county courts will be kept on file in the police department here and police officers will be instructed to arrest them if they attempt to drive, according to George T. Prim, chief of police. Police officers will carry the names of those whose licenses have been revoked. Chief Prim said he will cooperate with the county courts to prevent illegal driving.

The new state drivers' license law provides that persons found guilty of drunken driving, reckless driving or failure to stop after an accident may have their licenses revoked by the secretary of state on recommendation of the judge passing sentence.

HANDS DOWN RULING ON LAKE SHORE LAND

Madison—(AP)—Lands uncovered by the gradual recession of the waters of meandered navigable lakes inure to riparian owners to the next eighth line, the attorney general has advised that state land commission. Beyond the next eighth line, his ruling says, title rests in the state.

The question of ownership of such lands was raised by the land body with reference to North Lake and Lake Keesau, two meandered lakes. Another ruling of the legal department held that where there is a gradual recession of waters of a meandered lake, the land exposed thereby becomes the property of the riparian or littoral owners.

County boards are without authority to abolish the office of county highway commissioner, according to an opinion given the state highway commission by the attorney-general of the state. A county board had voted to do away with its road commissioner, and asked the state highway commission to take over the road work in the county. Under the ruling, the board has not the authority either to abolish the county highway officer or to ask the state highway body to take over his duties.

The attorney-general has advised the Wisconsin railroad commission that a shipper who enters into a number of contracts for hauling freight between Michicot and Manitowoc is a common carrier.

A vast domain of 50,000 square miles in Texas is as still free from vermin rats as it was when first traversed by early Spanish explorers.
